What is Team Leadership Training?

Team leaders work as part of the team but are expected to divide their time between completing their own tasks and supervising other team members. This is not always a natural ability that individuals possess and so our Team Leadership training course gives delegates the skills to ease into the role effectively. This training course develops and expands the skills set of a team leader so they are able to manage their team more effectively.

Who is Team Leadership Training intended for?

This training course is suitable for those who lack experience in managing a team. Candidates may have been recently promoted, hence are keen to receive guidance about how they can excel in their new role. This training course is also suitable for those already working in team leadership and wish to better their skills.

What are the objectives of Team Leadership Training?

This team leadership course covers the key skills necessary for team members to become team leaders including:

- Communicating Effectively
- Giving Effective Feedback
- Developing Confidence and Self Esteem
- Setting Team Objectives

- Understand Role of a Leader
- What makes a Good Leader?
- Learn how to Manage Change
- Demotivation and other Issues in Workplace
- Effective Communication skill
- Delegation and Motivation
- PerformanceMeasurement

By the end of the course you will:

- Your Role as a Leader
- Deal with Change and Conflict
- Keep Team Members Motivated
- Know How to Measure Performance and Stay on Track

This Team Leadership training course covers the key skills necessary for team members to become team leaders. It is ideal for recently promoted Team Leaders or those who have not had formal training.