Tel +44 20 4571 2395
info@siliconbeachtraining.co.uk

What is Introduction to Managing People?

This Managing People Introduction course enables the development of knowledge concerning how to develop effective motivational and working relationships with individuals under your management and also between employees. Effective People Management is the crucial back-bone to any project's or programme's success, due to harnessing the available people power - fully utilising the obtainable resources.

Hence, this course is beneficial for Project Managers and Businesses looking to overcome adversity or challenges within their workforce that are inhibiting upon success. Managers have a myriad of workplace roles relating to human resources, including hiring, dismissing, and providing training - all of which are underpinned and determined by communication skills. This People Management Course educates candidates how to deal with potential issues arising with people management such as authoritative decision making, whilst guaranteeing adherence to legislation and policy requirements concerning workers rights.

Taking a theoretical stance, and led by highly experienced accredited instructors, this course is a pivotal first step into enhancing management training, knowledge, and employability prospects, whilst demonstrating a continued commitment to personal development training.

Course Objectives

This training course aims to develop astute business managers that are able to acquire maximal productivity from a set of individual with small resources or skills - making the most out of the potential man-power resources and learning to avoid/overcome adversity that may arise concerning conflicts

- The Requirement for Effective People Management
- Approaches to People Management
- Theory of Organisation
- Planning and Staff Utilisation
- Power Management
- Leadership Types and Roles
- Motivational Strategies and Theories
- Time Management

Tel +44 20 4571 2395
info@siliconbeachtraining.co.uk

- Team Building Strategies to Enhance Cohesion
- Dealing with Poor Performances and Promoting Productivity
- Developing Individual Skills from within a Business

This Managing People Introduction training course enables candidates to become effective managers of productive teams - learning how to utilise people power whilst avoiding adversity